than just holding hot water until someone needs it, Apollo Hydroheating Systems use the hot water in their tanks to heat the air surrounding the tank. These systems have a mixing valve which mixes 140 degree water from the system's tank with cold water to bring the water temperature down to 120 degrees before it reaches the hot water taps. Where Can You Purchase Apollo Heating Systems? I just inspected a home with an Apollo HydroHeat system circa 1991. It was paired with a conventional electric A/C. Hydronic heat is really rare around here. I last saw one about 8-9 years ago as best I can recall. The unit takes water from the water heater adjacent to it and pumps it through a coil when in heating mode. Apollo
