... New to FUEL CMS 1.3 is the ability to create post type pages automatically from your modules. This is a very powerful feature that allows you to map routes to post pages that have specific behaviors. This means each module can now have blog like features (minus the commenting). It uses the Fuel_posts class to do so. There are a number of types of pages automatically created for you (basically the ones we were tired of creating over and over again) including, slug, archive, list, post, tag ... FUEL CMS User Guide : Version 1.4.11 : Simple Modules Adding the advanced module as a GIT submodule will allow you to run updates independent of your main FUEL CMS repository. Adding a submodule can be done one of two ways. The first way uses the native

"submodule" command from GIT, and the second uses the FUEL installer "add_get_submodule" controller method. FUEL CMS User Guide : Version 1.4.11 : Modules FUEL CMS User Guide : Version 1.4.7 ...
